

Dear Aaron,

We have been using Transonic Pro, Dual Speaker Pest Repellers for about two years all together. We used to have hundreds of bats on our outdoor porches hanging from the cedar beams in the summer creating piles of poop. The stucco walls were covered with white streaks. Then about two years ago we went on the internet and starting researching bat repellers. I found the Transonic Pro and purchased one. We put it on our front porch and after about two weeks the bat population started decreasing. That summer we had fewer and fewer bats so last year we acquired two more repellers for other locations. We have three outdoor porches and we put one on each and reduced the bat population to no more than twenty to twenty-five bats total. We like having the bats in the area because we can sit out at night and they are still there but do not hang on the cedar beams on the porches anymore. No more bat poop. We were finally able to have the house repainted and hopefully it will stay the lovely earth color it was originally.

We read on the repellers that it also repels mice so last year we purchased two more and started using them in our workshop to deter mice. What a difference. We used to catch four or five mice in the little mouse traps each week. Since we started using the repellers, we hardly ever catch a mouse in the traps and no more chewing of paper towels and cardboard etc. And NO MORE MOUSE POOP!!!!!!!

It is great doing business with your company. Whenever we call, we get to talk to a "real person" and a "real person" in the USA. All of your employees are so polite and helpful. Thank you so much. I also wanted to say that we have several of our friends in our area using the repellers. They all love them.
